Top Five Vegan Food Trucks in the U.S.

PETA has been on the road searching for the best vegan food on wheels. As vegan eating soars in popularity, we found that numerous cities had plenty of options, but we've narrowed the list down to our favorite five 100 percent plant-based food trucks. Here they are:

Gmonkey

Hartford, Connecticut

This food truck helps the environment by serving cruelty-free, low-emission food—and by operating on biofuel from its own organic farm. Gmonkey serves a wildly popular dish called Mayan Sun, a sweet potato enchilada with house-made tapioca cheese, guacamole, and sour cream with cashew parmesan. Feisty Monkey flies off the menu: It's a dish of soba noodles with peanut butter, herbs, cilantro dressing, edible flowers, and cashew dust. This truck also serves farmers' markets and caters weddings and other special occasions.
